Gov. okays bill, trustees to stay

It looks like the faces of the members of the Antioch Village Board will remain the same for awhile, at least until the next election.

Among the stack of bills that Illinois Gov. James Thompson signed in the last couple of weeks, was House Bill 345, sponsored by State Rep. Richard Mautino, (D-Spring Valley).

This was the bill that removed the "indirect connection" clause from a state statute banning municipal board members from having a direct or indirect connection with the sale of liquor.

The question on the position of two of Antioch's trustee's arose because Trustee Robert Wilton's wife, Leta, is a partner in the ownership of a new restaurant "Struggles," at the intersection of Rte. 173 and 59, due to open soon.

The partnership has bought Thompson's Restaurant and the village board had issued a change of address for that liquor license.

Mabel Lou Weber is employed at the Antioch Bowl, which also holds a village issued liquor license.

Thompson signed the bill four days before the deadline. If the bill was not signed by Sept. 28, that non-action would have been considered an in-pocket veto by the governor.

The bill was signed on Sept. 24 according to the legislative hotline.

HOD asks out-of-court negotiation

The Antioch Village Board and Waste Management, Inc. will be at it again as two hearings pertaining to the Antioch landfill site are slated for Monday, Oct. 24.

The disposal company's request for a 50 foot vertical expansion of the site is due to come before Lake County Circuit Court Judge William Block.

Waste Management's request to move 227,000 cubic yards of dirt from the site to make room for more dumping will also come before the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals on that same day.

If the first request is not granted there will be no need to remove the dirt.

Village Atty. Ken Clark said that the village had been approached by the disposal company in order that some negotiations can take place outside of the courtroom.

Clark, who expects the two hearings to be continued until at least December, said that the negotiations meeting would probably take place as soon as his law firm has time.

The village is asking the court to order Waste Management to turn any legal documents concerning the landfill, dating back to the mid-70s over to the village so that the board can look over that information. This is also expected to be a time consuming task.

According to Donna Henderson of the village attorney's office, the court, last week, ordered Waste Management to provide the village with all the discovery it had asked for excluding that objected to by the disposal company.

Waste Management was instructed to deliver that information to the law offices of the village attorney by Oct. 5.

A hearing on the data that the disposal company does not want to turn over is set for Oct. 12.

Merit Finalist

Congratulations to Craig James, Antioch Community High School senior who was selected as a National Merit Semi-finalist (one of only 650 in Illinois; 15,000 in the nation).

James qualified by his performance on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test as a junior. He will now enter the competition for finalist status and college scholarship awards.

Find Quilico not guilty

A Lake County jury was convinced that Charles Quilico, 57, Antioch, was innocent of the aggravated assault of Illinois Bell Telephone linemen Robert Hueckstaedt, 37, also of Antioch, returning with a verdict of not guilty in a trial held before Associate Judge Alvin Singer.

Reportedly the lineman had told Quilico that he was from the phone company when he entered his property but showed no identification, pointing to the company truck.

Quilico allegedly grabbed him by the throat and pointed a gun at the phone company employee threatening to kill him.

Hueckstaedt then showed his I.D. card, left the premises and called the phone company's security department who reported the incident to the sheriff's department. Quilico was arrested shortly afterwards.

The defendant testified that concern over the unexplained presence of linemen climbing poles behind his house for several days previous to the incident on May 3, and billing by the phone company for a phone he did not have, caused him to be suspicious.

DR. JAMES KOPRIVA

Clark, Kopriva buffs on Civil War

by GLORIA DAVIS

With the recent push by the Lakes Region Historical Society to preserve artifacts and memorabilia of and from the Antioch area, many local citizens have taken an interest in local history.

Two of Antioch's esteemed citizens who are locally well-known as history buffs, especially when it's centered around the time of the Civil War, are Village Atty. Ken Clark and Antioch's current VIP, Dr. James Kopriva.

Clark recently gave a talk on the Civil War, featuring the exploits of Antioch's Joe Savage, at a meeting of the historical society.

In reality, Clark said that he is really interested in the history of all the major wars and has spent much time reading just about everything he could get his hands on that deals with battle campaigns that involved the United States, all the way through the Vietnam conflict.

He found the Civil War particularly interesting because it was the last of the romantic and the start of what he calls "the industrial wars."

Clark did special research on Savage, an Antioch pioneer and the father of a former priest at St. Peters; Father Savage.

Kopriva has also been interested in the life of Savage, and wrote the story on his Civil War capture and imprisonment that appeared in the Antioch Civil War Centennial Book.

Both men agree on the major facts of Savage's life with differences on locations, some dates and minor facts.

The main story of Savage's adventures, from his capture by Confederate troops at Chickamauga, Ga., through his internment in Confederate prisons when he spent the bulk of his almost 18 months of incarceration in the infamous prison at Andersonville, Ga.,

Savage's fight for survival while all his prison mates were dropping like flies all around him, because of the inhuman and unbelievable living conditions, is an historic saga in itself.

One of the ways that Savage was able to buy or trade for the very barest necessities of life was by carving trinkets out of wood.

After passing through many local hands, Kopriva, who is a collector of Civil War memorabilia, has come into possession of a pipe carved by Savage while he was at Andersonville.

The pipe is a work of art, its wood darkened and mellowed with age. Carved into the pipe's bowl are the names of the campaigns he fought in and other well-known symbols of the war.

For those who do not know the end of the story, both men agree that, after suffering what was an almost fatal illness, Savage did finally find his way back to Antioch after the war, either in the spring or summer of 1865.

Kopriva has him being one of the seven who survived out of 27 Union soldiers captured and Clark claims that 38 enlisted soldiers and two officers were taken prisoner in Sept. of 1863.

Can pay gas bills at State Bank Of Antioch

Andrew B. Bernhardt, president of the State Bank of Antioch, has announced that the bank has been designated an official paying agent for Northern Illinois Gas Co.

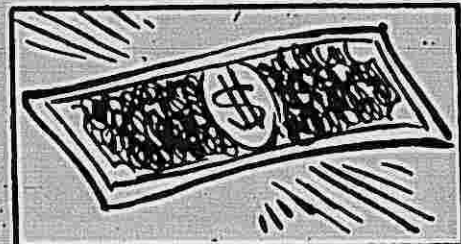

"We are pleased to offer this service to the community," said Bernhardt, "now that Reeves Drug Store has closed."

"Reeves provided the gas bill service for many years, and we want to continue the convenience by accepting gas bill payments at the bank."

Northern Illinois Gas Co. customers may make payments during regular banking hours in the main lobby, at walk-up or drive-up facility during extended hours, or by envelope in the night drop slot. State Bank of Antioch customers may also pay their gas bill by simply making a Cash Station automatic teller payment transaction.

Should soccer fields bear Casey Lulof's name?

In a letter to the editor, a local resident has questioned the naming of the new Antioch Community High School's (ACHS) soccer fields on Deep Lake and Grass Lake Rds. after Superintendent Warren Polley.

The ACHS Board of Education recently honored Polley's 36 years at the school by naming the fields after him.

Gwendoline Lulofs wrote that she had no doubt that Polley had been a fine teacher and administrator at the high school.

According to Lulofs, "Mr. Polley was very much against soccer being played at the high school a few years ago."

In claiming that her husband Cornelius "Casey" Lulofs was most instrumental in bringing soccer to Antioch and not Polley, she points out that it was really through his hard fought efforts that soccer came into play at the high school.

She added that Neal Lulof, Casey's son, a graduate of the high school, is one of the present soccer referees.

Casey evidently was a real soccer enthusiast, having been president of the Illinois High School Soccer Referees Assn., president of the National Intercollegiate Soccer Officials Assn., president of the Chicago chapter of the Illinois Soccer Referees Unit, and also an area clinician.

According to his wife, "Casey lived and died for soccer."

He was on his way home from refereeing a soccer game in Northbrook in 1979 when he was involved in a car accident, dying five months later from injuries suffered in that accident.

"Casey's dream was to see soccer at Antioch High School. He attended many high school board meetings trying to persuade the members what a healthy sport soccer is, but ACHS was not ready for soccer as Antioch is a football town," she wrote.

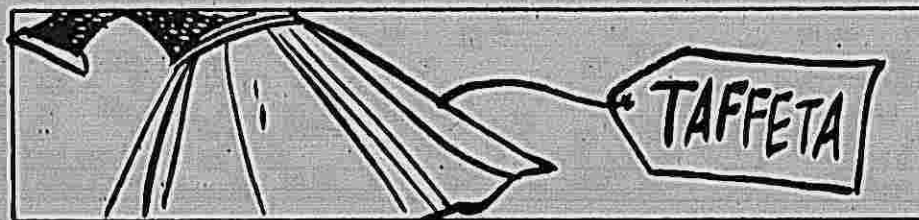

Mrs. Lulof added that her son, while in school also broached Ward Lear, the high school's athletic director, with a petition filled with several hundred signatures asking that soccer be added to ACHS's sports schedule, to no avail.

Soccer finally came to Antioch after Casey talked Sue Koppa, then the director of Antioch Parks, into sponsoring a team.

The State Bank of Antioch donated the equipment and because it was winter, the school board allowed the park's team to use the gym to play in during the cold months.

"Casey asked his friends Willy Roy and Bill Foulkes of the Chicago Sting for help and on opening night, Jan. 3, 1977, they came to the high school and showed films and gave demonstrations with 40 students in attendance," wrote Mrs. Lulofs.

TREATING TEETH OF VERY YOUNG CHILDREN

Dentists like to see children brought in for examination early, about age three. Hopefully, the child's baby teeth are present and normal, and no treatment is necessary.

However, even very young children may require treatment, whether due to cavities, accidents or congenital problems. These children often are surprisingly cooperative patients. They don't know they're "supposed" to be afraid of the dentist — so they aren't.

If the child isn't cooperative enough, he or she may be given medication or put to sleep before treatment. Some dentists are equipped to give general anesthesia in their offices. If the necessary treatment is extensive, or if the child has medical problems, the dental treatment can be done in a hospital.

Parents should know that it's possible to do extensive dental treatment, if necessary, even on very young children.

Cash Station to open

The State Bank of Antioch has announced Oct. 7 and 8 as the official grand opening of its newest Cash Station automatic teller machine at Walgreen's in Round Lake Commons Plaza, Rte. 83 and Rollins Rd.

The convenience of the Walgreen's location for the bank's first off-premises Cash Station machine is already apparent by the number of transactions taking place in Round Lake even before the two-day event gets underway.

"We think that Cash Station convenience banking in Round Lake Commons Plaza is a valuable enhancement to the growing list of financial services available to State Bank of Antioch customers," said Bank President Andrew Bernhardt.

"We are finding that, not only do our Antioch customers use the service in great numbers, Cash Station banking provides increased availability for our Lake Villa and Lindenhurst customers. Because we have a large number of customers in those communities who shop in Round Lake, it was the logical choice for a Cash Station installation.

State Bank of Antioch customers with a checking, NOW, or savings account can use a Cash Station card to handle nearly all personal banking at any one of those over 200 automatic teller machines labeled Cash Station in Illinois.

The main lobby Cash Station machine is available 24 hours a day. Cash Station at Walgreens is available during store business hours, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., Saturday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

CASH STATION, INC. is an organization of many Illinois financial institutions sharing a network of automatic teller machines. Indications are however, that through Cash Station, the State Bank of Antioch will soon be able to offer customers access to the YES network, 640 point-of-sale terminals and 180 area Jewel Stores.

The national electronic banking network (Cirrus Systems, Inc.) may be available in the near future to Cash Station users, to further access over 5,000 automated teller machines (ATM) in 41 states involving national and regional banks.

"In the long run, State Bank of Antioch customers," said Bernhardt, "will be able to transact business with our bank through ATM's throughout the entire country. We consider that the ultimate convenience."

18-year-old fight victim responds after bar beating

by GLORIA DAVIS

An 18-year-old Antioch man, who remained unconscious in Kenosha Memorial Hospital for a week after being involved in a fight in a Wisconsin bar's parking lot, finally responded on Friday, Sept. 30.

According to the Kenosha County Sheriff Dept.'s detective bureau, Buxton's head was repeatedly smashed into the gravel floor of the parking lot of the New Key Lounge, formerly Shanty Town, on Hwy. C, in Trevor, during a fight early Saturday, Sept. 24, as the bar was closing.

The sheriff's detectives had not been able to interview Buxton as of press time but a detective said that the case was under investigation, the results of which is expected early this week.

When I think about it Patriotism kind of corny? Lend me an ear or two!

by GLORIA DAVIS

Well folks, I just took another trip and you're about to be subjected to another Davis travelogue, but this time it has a patriotic theme.

Since I spent a weekend in Washington, D. C., I've been castigating myself for not only not doing it sooner, but for not seeing to it that my children saw first hand the buildings that embody all the things that our country's all about.

Sure, sure, we all know about all the historic places that are to be found in the federal city of Washington, but we are also supposed to know that knowing is not really knowing until it is experiencing.

Not only is it a clean and beautiful city, it is a wide open panoramic one. The two tallest buildings, the Washington Monument and the Capitol Building, stand like picturesque bookends spiraling from rolling fields of green.

One of the things that most impressed me is that any interested American taxpayer, or simply any interested person, which in Washington's case amounts to hundreds of thousands, can lounge or cut across most of the well-kept lawns without tripping over a "Keep Off The Grass" sign and yet, surprisingly, we seldom came across the amount of litter found in our local villages.

One of the most appealing buildings we toured during our whirlwind visit was the Library of Congress. It's architecture and accoutrements are more beautiful than most famous cathedrals, complete with marble floors, gilt trimmed columns, and elegantly muraled walls and domes.

Yet generously-ensconced amidst all these awe-inspiring surroundings, the display of the Gutenberg Bible included, are jean-clad students reading papers and volumes, some standing, many laying on the floor, completely involved in the historic document they are perusing.

Somehow I found this to be the real American way.

Call me corny, but it really meant something to me to walk up the worn marble steps of the Capitol, past the legislative rooms, especially the old ones, and speculate on all the famous feet it took to wear marble so that it throws you off balance to use some of the staircases.

And maybe I'm not jaded enough for 1983, and its not "cool" to respond to the solid gold doors on the Supreme Court Building or the sight of jewels that make the Hope Diamond look puny in the Smithsonian, but I loved it.

By the way that jewel comparison was a first person one since that famous diamond is there for the viewing. Sorry but I am impressed by a gold and turquoise crown belonging to a princess or a emerald and diamond necklace emblazoned with emeralds the size of ice cubes.

And I wasn't the only one that got a kick out of seeing the "Ruby Slippers" Judy Garland wore in the "Wizard of Oz," or "Bojangles" and Fred Astair's dancing shoes.

Back to the open-air expansiveness of D.C., don't be fooled by the optical illusion that portends that you might be able to walk from site to site.

The Lincoln Memorial is not a hop skip and a jump from Arlington Cemetery, ask my daughter who still hasn't forgiven her husband for that 45 minute, "10 minute walk."

For real fun we joined the crowds on the streets of Georgetown on Friday night and I felt like I was back in New Orleans.

Every other door leads to a restaurant that serves every and any kind of ethnic cuisine, all contributing to the added inches on my hips and other unmentionable places.

I can't decide if the new lump between my waist and right hip is Indian or Pakistanian.

I know its great to bake on a beach in Bermuda or sail on the sea to Spain, but may I urge you, if you haven't already done it, please see the capitol of our nation first and maybe you won't take the privilege of being an American as much for granted as you might have been.

Lauds ACHS

Editor:

Parents are always thrilled to see nice comments about their children in the newspaper.

One important thing we will never forget is that the excellent coaching staff with its superior athletic program at Antioch High School allowed Kurt to find the sport he loves so well. This, along with fine academic training at Antioch has allowed him to stay in a college that puts academic achievement first.

The great things about this is that Antioch High School, with its high academic standards and fine sports programs, is there for each young person in our district.

Watts named manager of Great American Savings

Edward Watts has been named manager of GreatAmerican Federal Savings' new office in Antioch, at 425 Lake St.

For Watts the appointment is more than a promotion, it is a homecoming.

Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Watts of Spring Lake, is a fifth generation area resident who was educated in the Fox Lake school system and attended College of Lake County. Watts family also operated a marina on the Chain of Lakes for many years.

Watts was manager of the GreatAmerican Federal office in Bellwood, when Antioch Savings and Loan joined GreatAmerican Federal Savings last July.

Watts joined GreatAmerican Federal in 1981 as a savings counselor in the Deerfield, Illinois office and, as part of his management training program, has served in 20 of the 27 GreatAmerican Federal offices, including the main office in Oak Park.

"The experience of serving in so many locations has given me a broad financial service background to apply right here in Antioch," Watts said, "and I'm eager to institute the wide range of banking services and investment opportunities available only through one of the strongest savings and loan institutions in the nation."

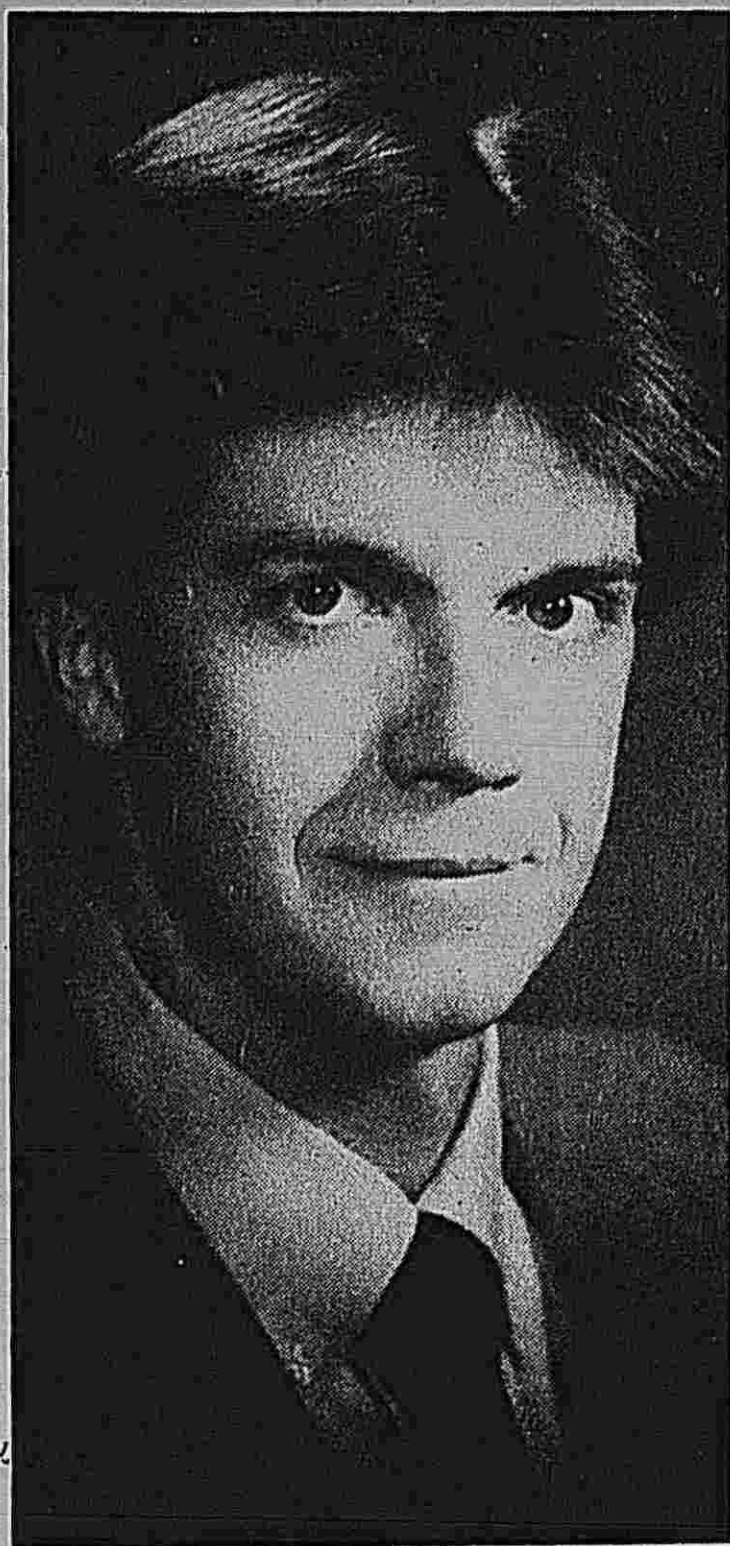

Watts said, "GreatAmerican is offering more and better financial services to both existing and new customers, and we will be introducing a number of new opportunities soon."

Consultant hired for solid waste review

The Lake County Board has approved the hiring of the firm of Metcalf and Eddy as special consultants to assist in the development of the Lake County Solid Waste Management Plan.

Metcalf and Eddy is a major engineering firm with 75 years of experience in solving municipal solid waste problems. The firm, with over 900 employees, has corporate offices in Boston and operates a midwest regional office in Des Plaines staffed by 70 engineers and support staff. The County Board signed a $79,900 contract with the firm to aid in the $200,000, 18 month planning study being conducted by the Lake County Solid Waste Advisory Committee.

The consultants will be responsible for several aspects of the study. They will assess possible users of processed garbage or its byproducts such as steam. They will recommend which disposal methods are best for Lake County, will determine siting criteria for waste disposal facilities and the firm will recommend appropriate ownership and financing strategies for waste disposal facilities.

The consultant will present an analysis of 20 types of waste processing and disposal technologies. The county's solid waste advisory committee will then be asked to narrow the list to several disposal methods for further review. From this list, a waste disposal strategy will be selected for the future.

Committee members stress that the Lake County Solid Waste Advisory Committee is not addressing problems occurring the county now caused by improper handling and disposal of waste in the past. The plan will also not cover the future handling and disposal of hazardous wastes.

The plan will recommend however, how and where municipal and special hazardous wastes in Lake County should be disposed of over the next 20 years.

Transfer tax office

Lake County Clerk Linda Hess has announced that effective October 3, numerous delinquent tax functions which are located on the first floor of her office will be transferred to the sixth floor.

"This should be a well-received change for residents who have tax business to do with the county clerk's office," Hess explained, "because it will consolidate all of the taxation duties on one floor and will mean only one stop for the taxpayer."

Hess said that the following services will be transferred to the sixth floor under the Tax Extension and Redemption division: preparation of estimates of tax redemptions, the payments on delinquent tax bills, issuance of tax deeds, cancellation of tax sale certificates, certification of plats, payments to tax buyers. All existing duties of tax extension will remain on the sixth floor.

Hess said the transfer of the services to the sixth floor is only one part of a county board approved reorganization plan for the county clerk's office. "This will help us to be more efficient in handling an increased work load without having to increase staff," she noted.

Sequoits take Warhawks by intercepting plans

Interception was the name of the football game that the Antioch varsity football 11 played against the North Chicago Warhawks on Wednesday, Sept. 28.

Four touchdowns made by John Mahar and six good extra-point-kicks executed by Quarterback John Humphreys added to the Sequoit 42-14 victory.

But at the start of the first quarter it was all Warhawks, as North Chicago got two fast touchdowns before the Sequoits finally woke up with 44 seconds to go in the quarter.

The Sequoits marched from their own 60 yard line and John Mahar scored with Humphreys sending the extra point over.

Then they tied the score in the second quarter, making it 14-14, when Humphreys hit his favorite target, Brian Becker with a nine yard pass. The quarterback made the extra point good again, but he tried for a 34 yard field goal just before half-time and failed.

Then a North Chicago fumble set-up another touchdown for the Sequoits, again Humphreys to Becker, and again Humphreys sent the extra point over.

It took Antioch nine plays to go over for their next goal, with John Mahar carrying the ball over.

Another interception by Sequoit Brian Parkhurst had Antioch on the march again but John Mahar's fumble, although recovered, seemed to kill the drive.

It was Craig Prather who interrupted the Warhawks plans next when his interception had Antioch hit the 22 yard line and Humphreys to Hart for 18 yards, left John Mahar a short four yard dance home.

Antioch's final score came when Prather did it again, and this time John Mahar only had to reach one yard for Antioch's final touchdown.

Sequoit soccer team still to win game

The Antioch soccer teams traveled to Bensenville to play Fenton High School. Fenton beat Antioch in a tough varsity game, 4-1. With outstanding play by Jim Wais, Antioch kept Fenton on their half of the field for a great portion of the game.

Chuck Hamlin came in at wing and scored Antioch's only goal. As a whole Antioch is playing better both offensively and defensively.

They still need to communicate better and move apart more. On Tuesday, Sept. 20, Antioch hosts Zion-Benton at the new fields on Grass Lake and Deep Lake Rds., across from Oakland

Grade School, at 4:30 p.m.

Antioch's frosh/soph team was lead by Jim Schettino's outstanding play. Antioch tied Fenton 1-1.

Berny's made new area bus stop

Wisconsin Illinois Stages, on Sept. 28, announced the appointment of a new bus stop and ticket agency in Antioch. Larry Plachno, company president, indicated that a new ticket agency became necessary due to the closing of Reeve's Drug Store.

The new Antioch ticket agency and bus stop is now Bernie's Maverick Station located at 830 Main St. in Antioch. Their phone number is (312) 395-6565.

Wisconsin Illinois Stages operates a weekend bus service between Chicago and southern Wisconsin resorts using Greyhound-built motor coaches with rest rooms and reclining seats.

The motor coaches operate non-stop from Antioch to O'Hare International Airport and also serve Chicago's Cumberland C.T.A. Terminal where passengers can connect with the Chicago Rapid Transit and Greyhound buses.

Northbound buses to Antioch leave the Chicago Cumberland C.T.A. Terminal at 6:15 p.m., on Friday nights, and 11:40 a.m., on Saturday mornings. Southbound buses to Chicago leave Antioch at 9:55 a.m. on Saturdays, and at 2:55 p.m. on Sundays. The one-way fare to Chicago is $8.

Bus schedules and additional information can be obtained by writing Wisconsin Illinois Stages, Rt. 3 Box 349B, Delavan, WI 53115 or phone (414) 728-2691.

Plachno indicated that the closing of Reeve's Drugs and appointment of another ticket agency ends an era in Antioch. According to Plachno, Reeve's Drug Store had been the official intercity bus stop in Antioch for at least three decades and outlasted at least three bus operators.

Records show that Reeve's Drug Store was the official bus stop for United Motor Coach in the 1960's, for Central West Motor Stages in the 1970's, and for Ritzenthaler Bus Lines in the early 1980's.

Plachno said that he suspects that Reeve's Drug Store may also have been the ticket agency for Cardinal Lines and American Motor Coach in the 1950's.

Historical society to party

The Lakes Region Historical Society is planning a community party. The first annual "Free Frolic" will be held at the Antioch V.F.W. Action Center on Oct. 30.

The event will include free entertainment, free refreshments, and lots of sociability.

The frolic will be open to everyone in Antioch and the surrounding communities.

Former Antioch woman to compete in nationals

Laura Oftedahl, 31, of Alexandria, Va., will compete in the first annual National Blind Water Ski Championship.

Sponsored by Panama Jack Sun Tan Products, the tournament will be held at Cypress Gardens on November 5 and 6.

This is the first time an event of this nature has ever been held in the U.S.

Two tournament winners will be flown to Beitostolen, Norway to compete in international disabled competition next summer.

A native of Antioch, Oftedahl was born with cataracts and glaucoma and retains only low partially sighted vision.

Despite her disability, she graduated from the University of Illinois in 1974 and is the director of public affairs for the American Council of the Blind. Because of her visual impairment, she had been excluded from physical education during her school years.

Then in 1980, she discovered cross country snow skiing and has gone on to win both gold and silver medals at the U.S. Assn. of Blind Athletes National Nordic Championships in 1982 and 1983.

She has already been selected as a member of the 1984 U.S. Blind Ski Team and will compete at the World Winter Games for the Disabled in Innsbruck, Austria this winter.

She also enjoys tandem biking, running, bowling, traveling and gardening and is active in many Washington, DC area civic and professional organizations.

Soccer fields

She added that, under the leadership of Casey and Coach Alex Reljic, the team competed against other Lake County park district teams, taking the championship despite the fact that the majority of the boys had never played soccer before.

When Casey died, the team disbanded, but many of the team members were from Lindenhurst and a soccer program was started there with 400 participants.

Mrs. Lulof wrote that when Neal is refereeing one of the high school's soccer games, she is sure that if Casey were still here he would say, "We finally did it Neal, carry on the good work!"
